. . . a new beginning

Hagerstown High School
Hagerstown, Indiana

Senior Economy students, new to our school system this year, congregate in front of the gym. They have made a very successful adjustment and have acquired many new friends since the fusing of the schools.

Students From Greensfork . . . Students From Economy

Greens Fork seniors gather on the steps in front of the school. These student's willingness to work and cheerful spirit have made them very valuable assets to our school.

Now a part of the recently established Nettle Creek Consolidation, are these students from Economy, Greensfork, and Hagerstown: Alice Riggle, Delores Mosier, Martha Manlove, Susie Hawkins, Chris Bicknell, Beth Bagley, Randy Rogers, Bill Warfel, Myron Moyer, and Ed Saunders.

Now a Part of Nettlecreek Consolidation

Through the direction and guidance of Mr. Stone, principal of Hagerstown Jr.-Sr. High School, three loyalties have been fused into a single student body.

Pride in a school, its teams, its traditions, are all things which may not easily be rejected, but must be reassigned to make strong a new system which has been formed. Here is Hagerstown Junior-Senior High School, where in one year, we have all made a new beginning.

In this past school year, students from Greensfork, Economy, Jacksonburg, Millville, Dalton, and Hagerstown have come together to form a new school. We have been given the opportunity, as young people, to recreate and improve school community. Through these times of change, we have successfully joined together and formed lasting bonds of friendship that will tie us more closely together in the future. In this time of new experiences, we have grown in stature and maturity because we made this our new beginning.

All Making

Here is our school, Hagerstown High School of Nettle Creek School Corporation. The building, now in its forty-first year of service, has been remodeled and added to a number of times. Improvements are constantly being made to make more enjoyable our school year.

We are now a much larger family. Many new students have made our building seem much smaller and definitely more crowded. But new friendships and diverse pleasures have made this year truly worthwhile.

A New Beginning

Senior boys, Dick Hanen, Bob Weaver, and Jim Retherford, arrive at school bright-eyed, alert, cheerful—Well, at least they arrive—usually!?

'62-'63 Established New

Anita Wilson finds the counseling offered by our school's excellent Guidance Department in the persons of Mrs. Devine and Mr. Allman extremely beneficial in career planning.

For approximately twelve years of our lives school represents the very nucleus of our existence. It serves as the foundation on which we plan a majority of our activities and interests. It shapes our beliefs and ideals as well as making accessible general knowledge and the vocational guidance necessary for a successful future.

The application, not only the expression, of loyalty, spirit, teamwork, and sportsmanship are also very much a part of the school, for a school is more than a machine devised to teach. If it were, it would be only an empty building, vacant desks, and unopened textbooks, but instead, it is young people — their likes and dislikes, dreams and realities, sadness and joy. Although the school and students are looked upon as a whole, both are based on the individual in regard to the process of learning and the extra curricular activities which go together to make up school life.

Dimensions For the Teenager

Mr. Stone gladly writes out a pass for Ginger Taylor.

Here is Queen, Susie Hagen, and her court: Sandy Conner, Senior; Sheryl Mitton, Sophomore, and Shiela Miller, Freshman. The candidates were voted upon by the entire student body.

Tiger's Outstanding Record Draws Avid Fans

Susie, our Homecoming Queen

Susie Hagen is warmly applauded by her court and pleased fans immediately after her coronation by the tri-captains of the football team. She also received a lovely bouquet of yellow mums.

and Alumni to View 1962 Homecoming

The junior candidate, Susie Hagen, eagerly awaits the announcement naming the 1962 Homecoming Queen.

Hagerstown High School's second annual Homecoming, held on October 5, 1962, demonstrated the awareness of the entire community to school activities. The Homecoming drew a large crowd of spectators who viewed enthusiastically the crowning of junior Homecoming Queen Susie Hagen and the ultimate victory of the sensational Tiger football squad over the Batesville gridders. Nineteen sixty-two marks the eleventh year since football was first instituted in the school's sports curriculum, and the reaction with which Homecoming was received both this year and last gave heartening proof as to the acceptance of the sport into the school and the community. Also, Homecoming served as a tribute, well deserved, to the football coaches and the members of this year's team as well as those of the past ten years whose efforts have given football the required force for it to become a successful addition to our high school sports program.

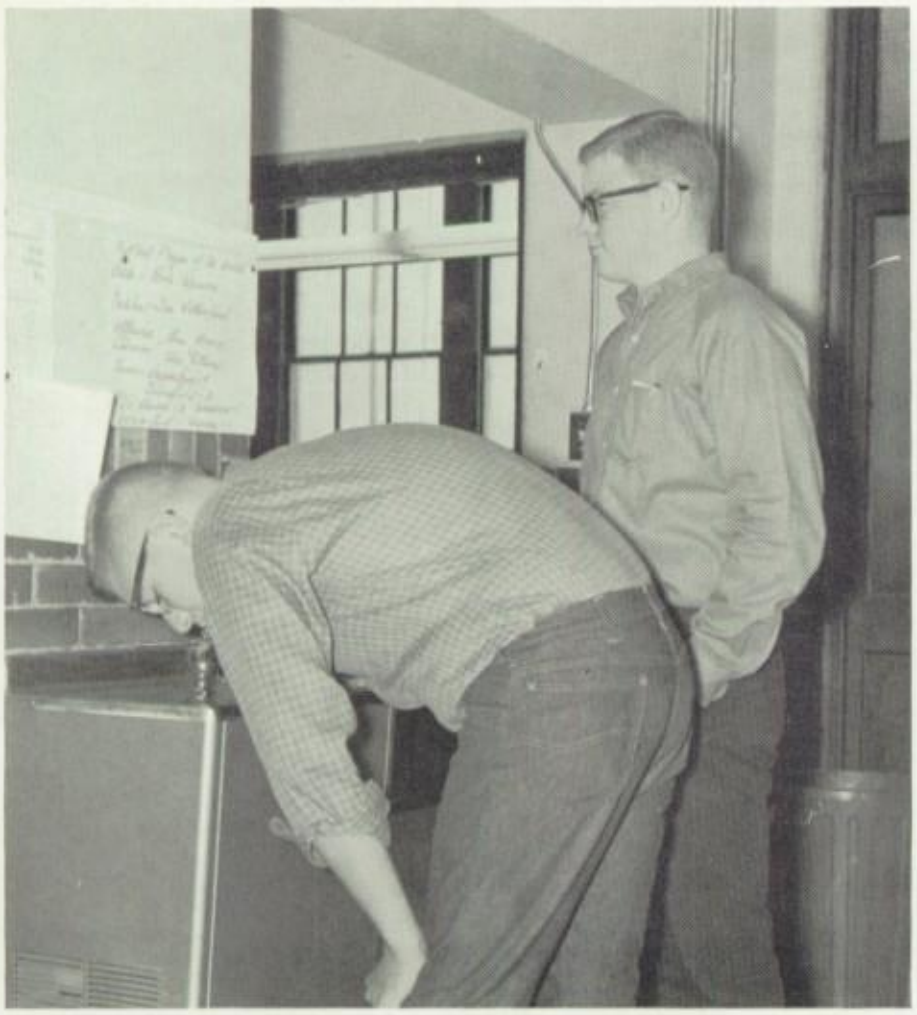
Senior, Sandy Conner, displays a poster advertising the Senior Sample Fair. Sandy as well as the other members of the Senior Class worked very hard to make this substantial money making project a success.

Our cafeteria offers delicious, well-balanced meals which are appreciated by everyone. Here Jan Jester shows her high regard for our lunch program. Well, it seems we've picked a rather poor testimonial!!!

Familiar School Life Activities Are

Jayne Bowman finds the school's public address system useful in making the announcement of a club activity.

Chris Brown takes advantage of the convenience of our bookstore maintained by Mariellen Stewart which makes school supplies easily accessible for purchase by students and teachers alike.



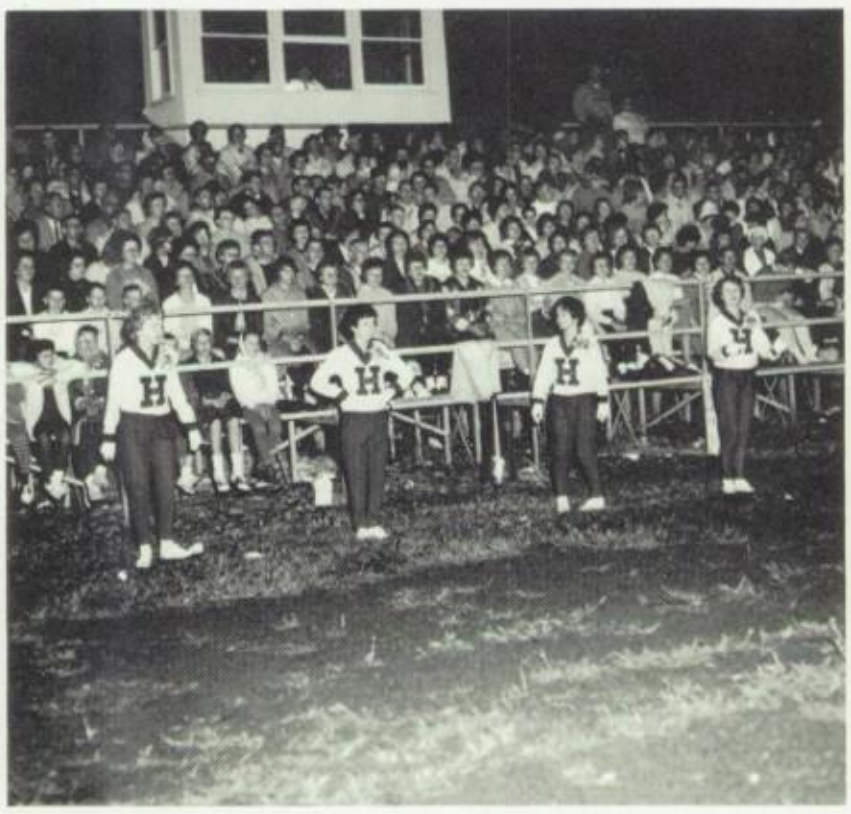
Sam Port and Steve Winters enjoy a refreshing drink from our newly installed water fountain.

Although the time is limited between classes, Rick Federico and Judy Neel find a minute to confer.

Future Memories of H. H. S.

During noon hour, the gym is filled with students who participate in various activities.

The Tiger fans led by the cheerleaders, Jan Jester, Joanna Johnson, Connie Richardson, and Cynthia Atkinson, tensely await the outcome of the game.



Festivities of "Hawaiian Holiday"

Newly-crowned King Bob Weaver and Queen Judy Tucker dance to a coronation melody to celebrate the honor they have received as the couple chosen to reign over the 1962 Junior-Senior Prom.

At the refreshment table is Tom Crome, Mrs. Armstrong, and Mrs. Nichols who are being served delicious Hawaiian punch by Sheryl Wilson and Kathy Skinner.

Long to Be Remembered

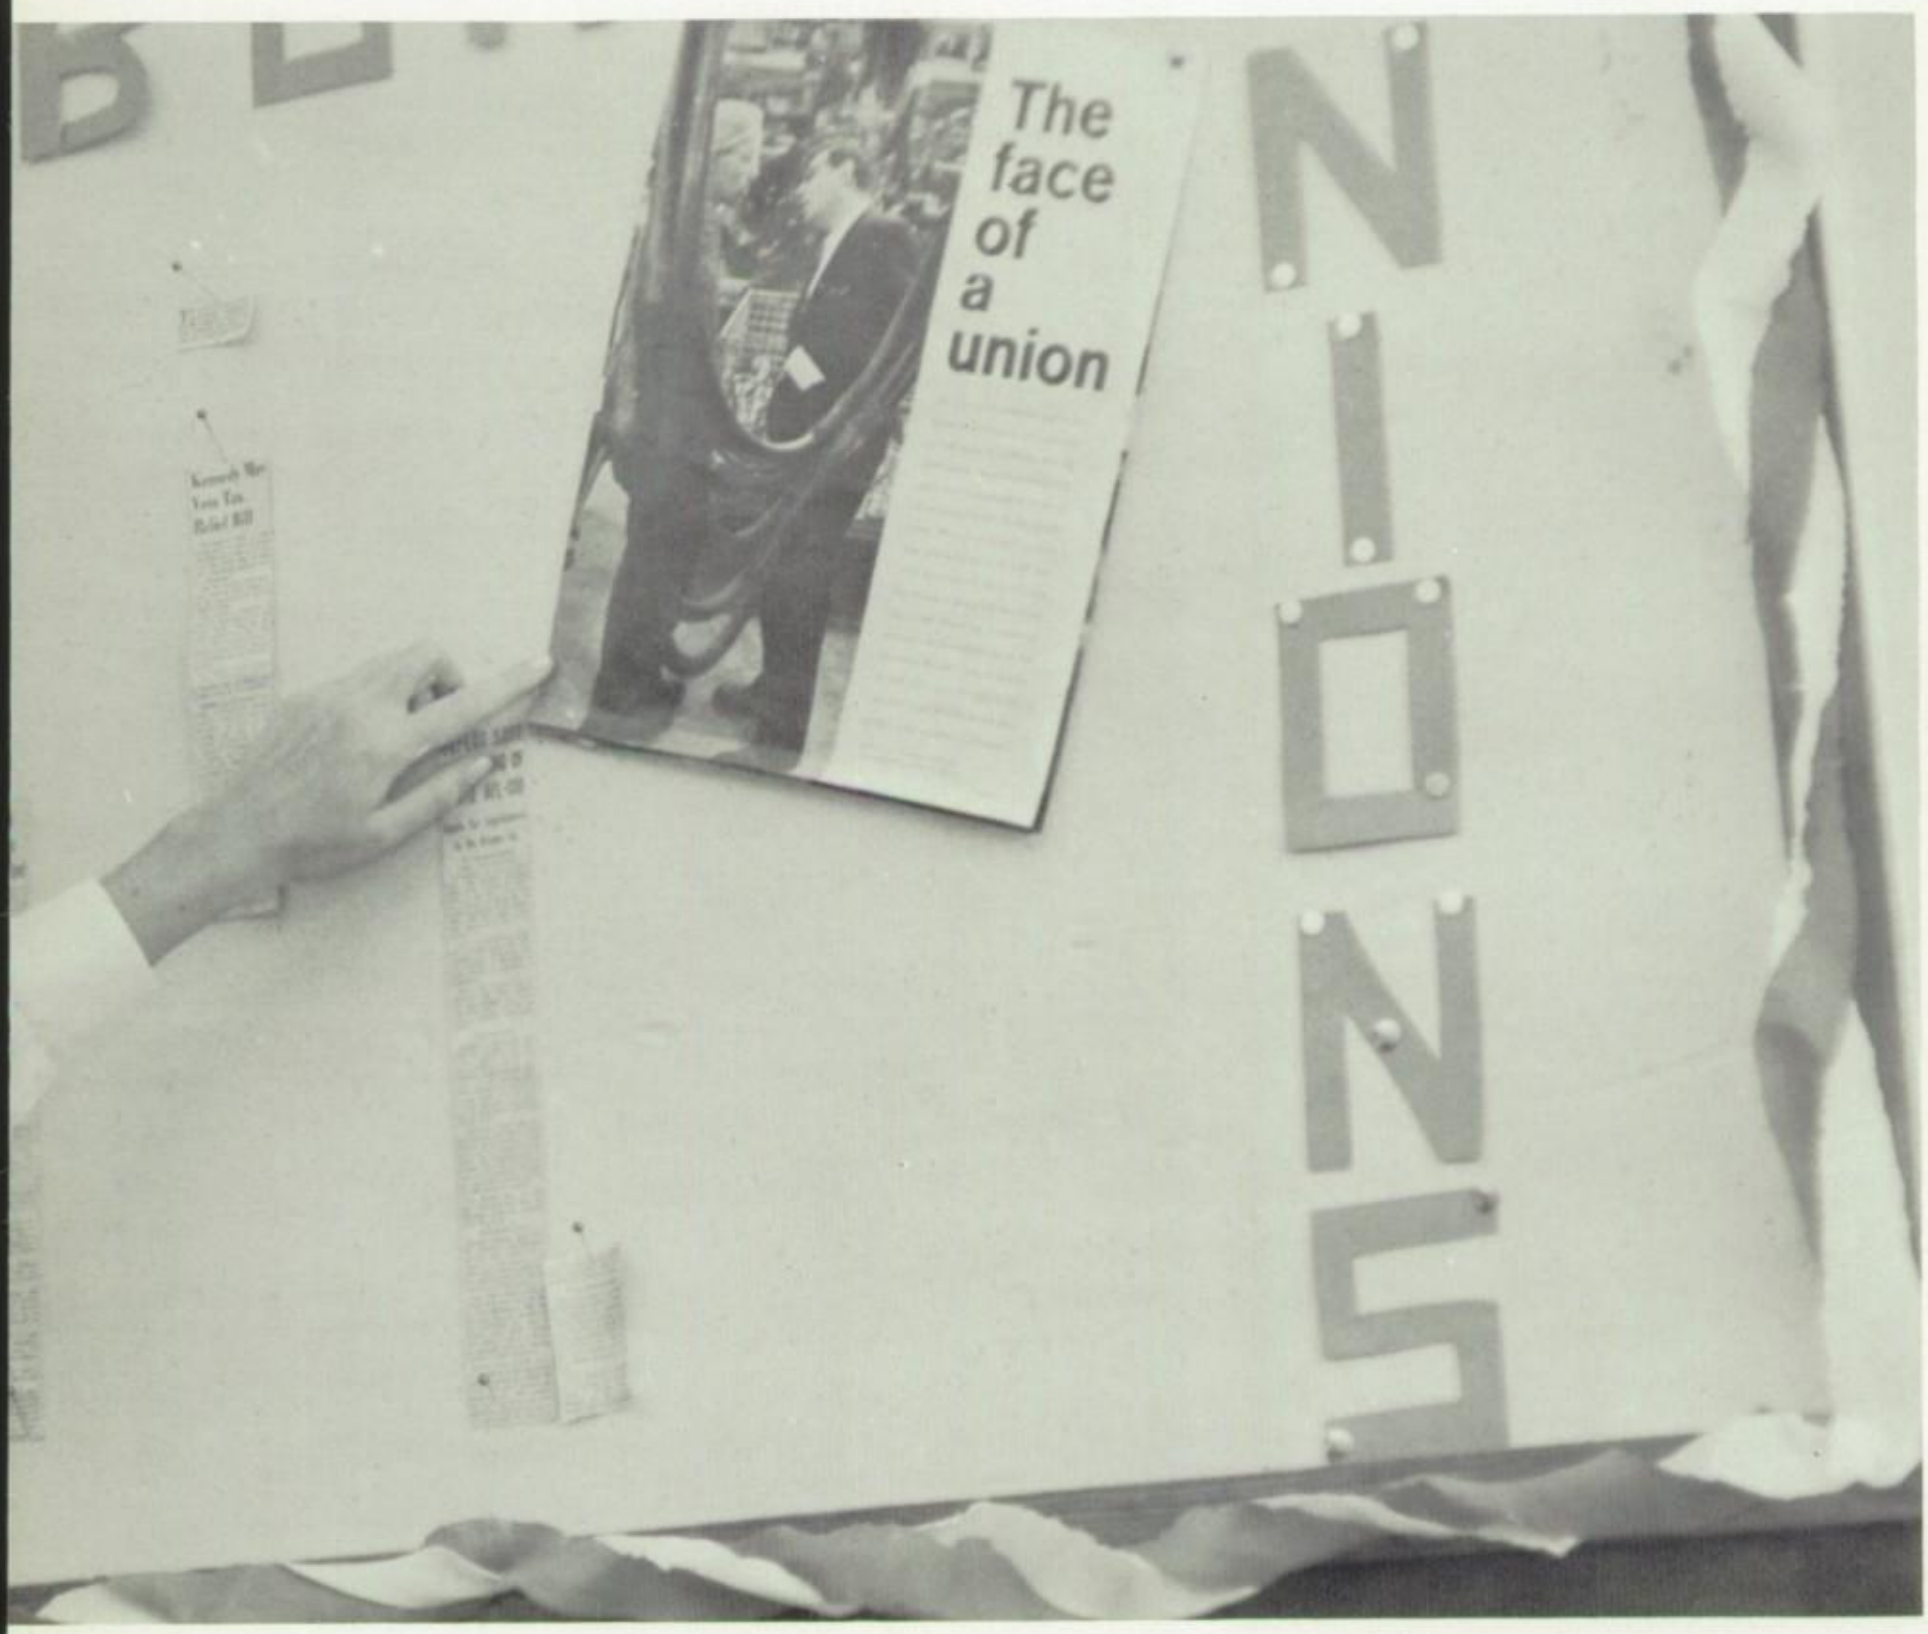
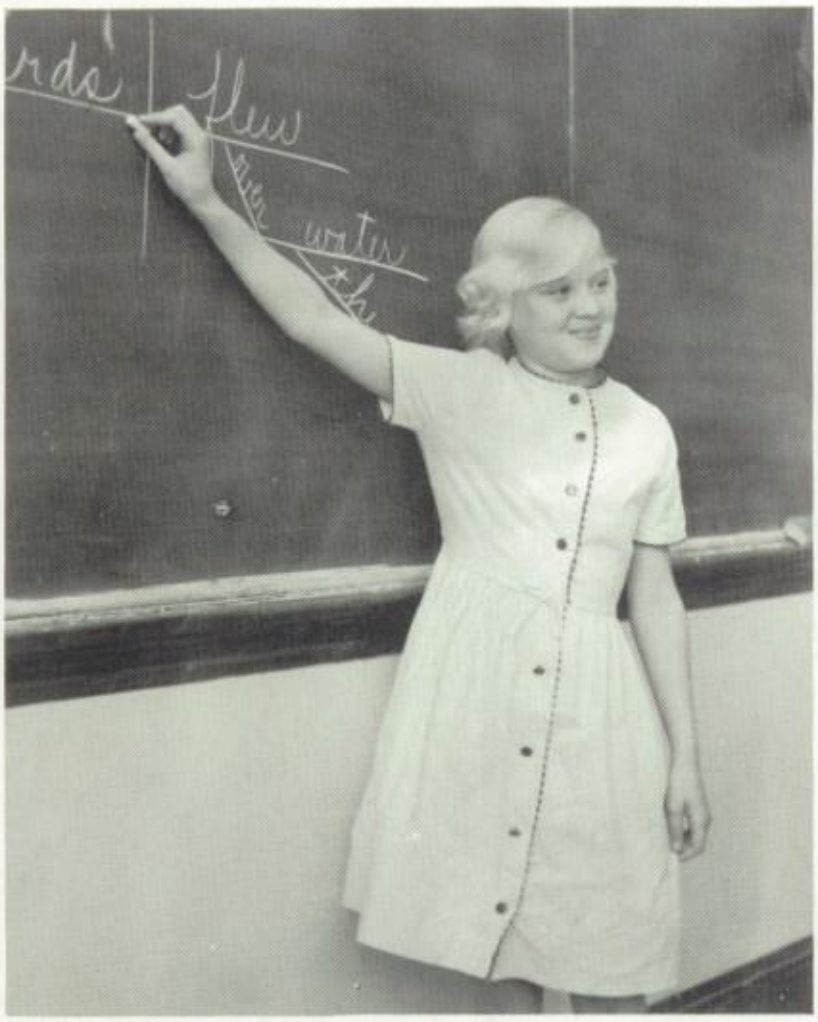
A New Beginning In



Academics



Smiling Merleen Cole seems to derive pleasure in taking part in class participation as an active member of the seventh grade class.

Our English Department provides adequate courses in grammar and literature. This includes a study of oral and written composition, spelling, short stories, plays, biographies, essays, poetry, and novels throughout all grades.

Extensive study of American Literature and English Literature are found in grades eleven and twelve.

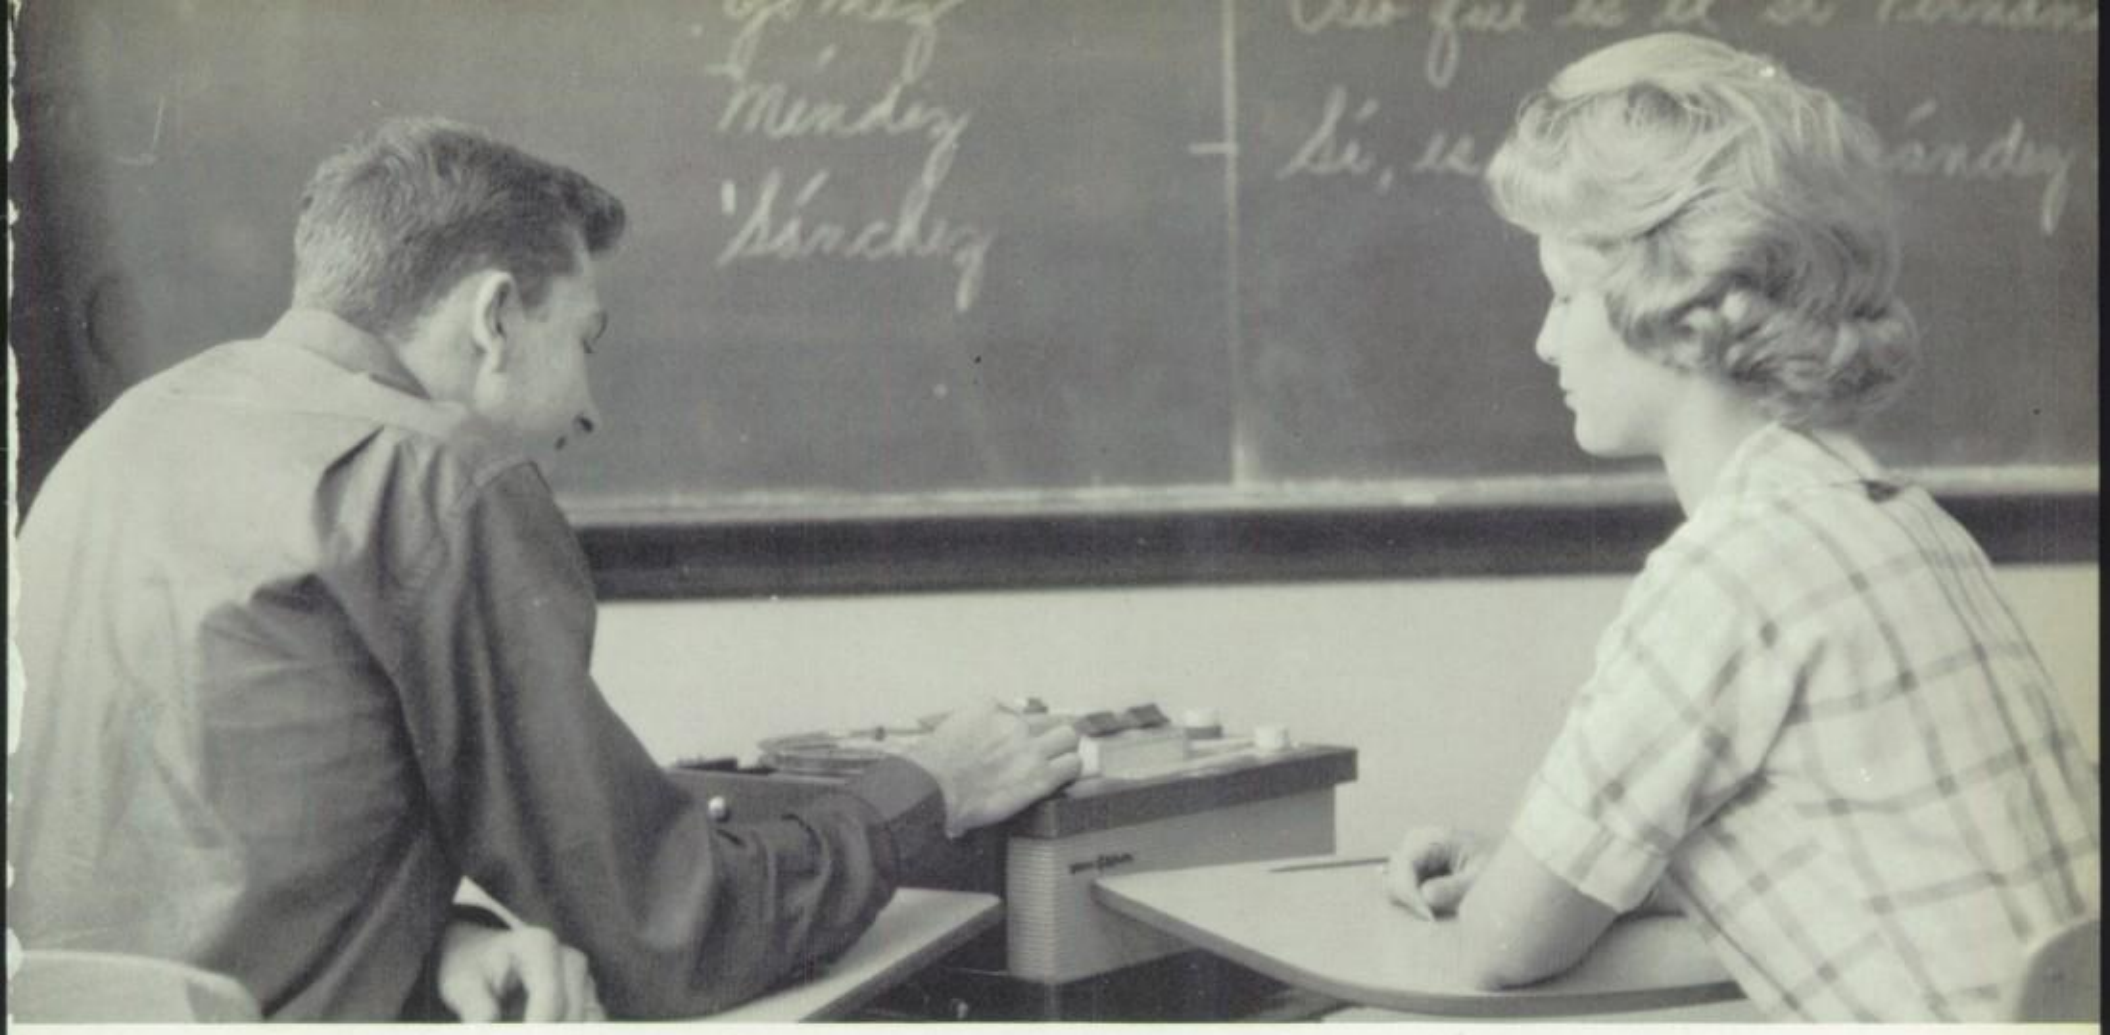
An advanced course is provided for those senior students preparing for a college career.

Nettle Creek School Corporation, to aid our increased student body, has established a department headed by Miss Andis to provide for an extended program in the field of English. This program is developing a stronger English student by starting various procedures of training in the elementary grades. This will be of benefit to future high school students, rather than students now attending the school. Miss Andis is forming this study throughout the outlying grade schools that are members of this Corporation.

Therefore, this department, feeling that English is vital to our society in understanding people and problems of our progressing nation, strives to build a better student.

Language Was Never More

Whether party time or school time, Judy Johnson, Lois Resler, Margaret Welliver, and Leann Lindley always manage to keep things lively with their intense enthusiasm.



Using the tape recorder as an aid in pronunciation and translation is an important part of learning Spanish as Sara Stewart and David Smith show in their Spanish III class.

Important to Young America

As our world grows smaller due to advanced transportation, foreign language provides the vital link in the understanding between the peoples of the world.

An introductory course in Latin supplies the fundamentals of grammar and pronunciation of the Latin language. The study of word derivations and vocabulary helps the student to grasp the structure of English and other Romance languages.

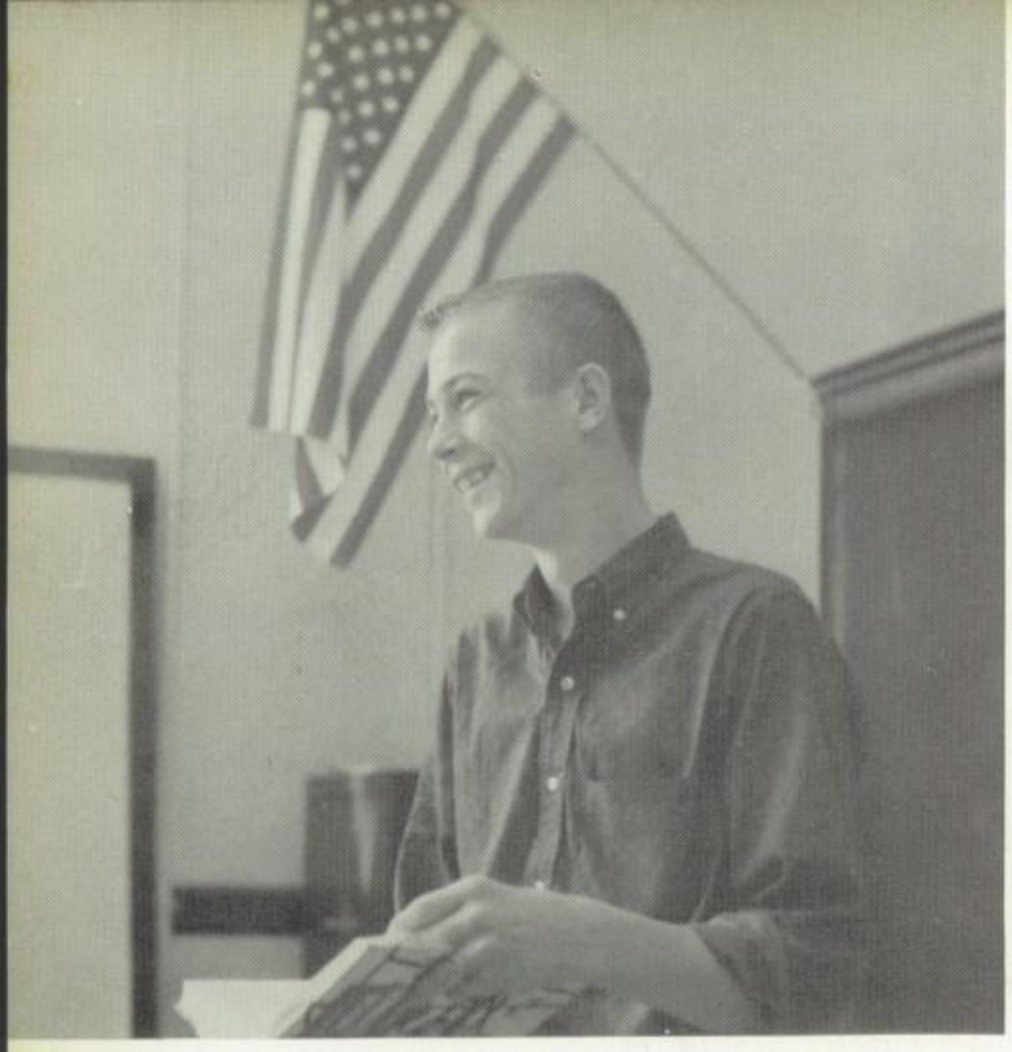
An advanced study of the subject reviews and completes essential grammar fundamentals. Also, there are studies of the Gallic campaigns of Caesar and various other Roman literature.

Introductory Spanish furnishes the beginning essentials to using this language. A necessary study of Spanish contributions to the American way of life is included.

Advanced studies of Spanish continue, review, and complete grammar studies and translation sufficient to enable the student to understand conversational Spanish, literature, history, and geography.

The study of foreign language enables the student to obtain a better knowledge of foreign culture, thus creating each individual's own opportunity to aid in the long, hard road to world peace. Only in this manner of broadening our horizons, may we grow into mature adults who are able to take over the difficult job of future leadership.

Vicky Allen and Mary Abbot fix an interesting bulletin board on Roman life for Latin class.



Ed Saunders seems to be enjoying himself as he recites his government lesson before the class.

Social Science is a field of study that entails many varied courses. In this department, students may take a course in world history that demonstrates the evolution of civilization from the dawn of history to modern times. In the study of United States history, pupils learn of the discovery, exploration, settlement, and growth of the United States, its culture and the impact of its relationship on the rest of the world.

United States government is a course that must be taken by all seniors. It is a study of the structure of our Federal, State, and Local government in comparison with other governmental systems. Studying current events is also a part of this class.

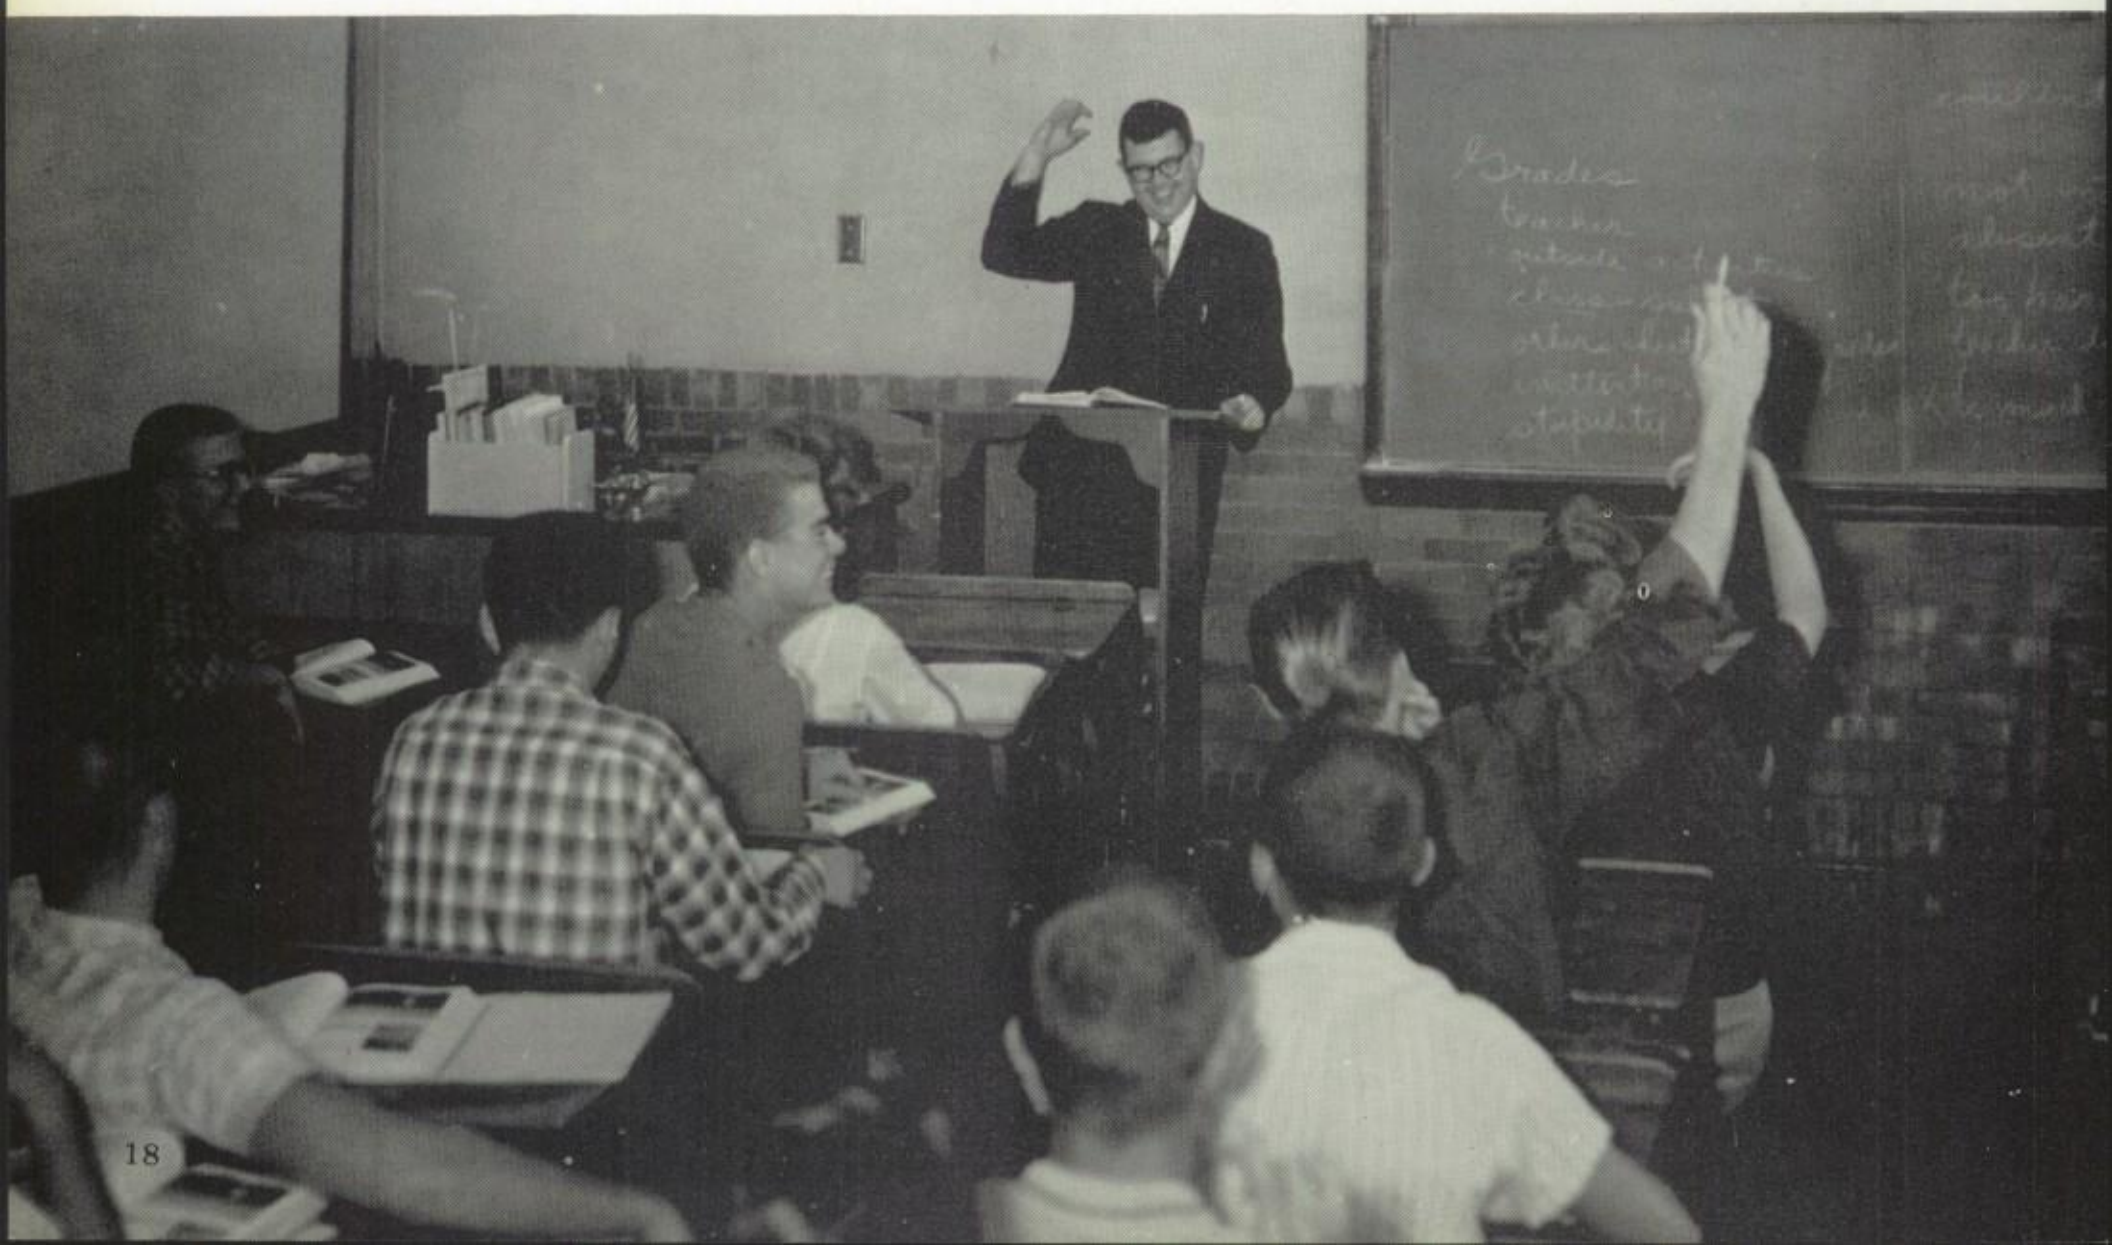
The semester course in Economics devotes its class time to gaining an understanding of the production, distribution, and consumption of goods and services and how it affects mankind.

One may gain a better understanding of human behavior and actions by enrolling in the one semester psychology course.

As one may see by observing the variety of subjects covered in this department, Hagerstown High School provides students with the opportunity to prepare for the future with knowledge of the past and the present.

Social Science Covers Cavemen to Rockets

We must admit, it is hard for us to grasp just what Mr. Barnhart is trying to demonstrate to his psychology class.



It is easy to see that Ginny Hill and Juanita Bane find their work with office machines quite engrossing. Students taking this course know that their reward for hard work will be an excellent office position in one of many fields after graduation.

H. H. S. Gets Us Ready to Earn Our Bread and Butter

Hagerstown High School has quite an extensive department of business. A total of eight courses is offered to students who wish to enter the business world or who simply wish to have this practical training background to learn on. Knowledge of this type is practical for even those who plan to attend college, and it should be considered by all.

General business is a course designed to give students an understanding of business as it functions in our economic system through all facets of daily life.

The beginning course in bookkeeping presents the bookkeeping cycle, first in its simplest form and then work with special ledgers and financial reports. Advanced bookkeeping is a continuation of first year bookkeeping and is to supply the student with increased competence for employment after graduation.

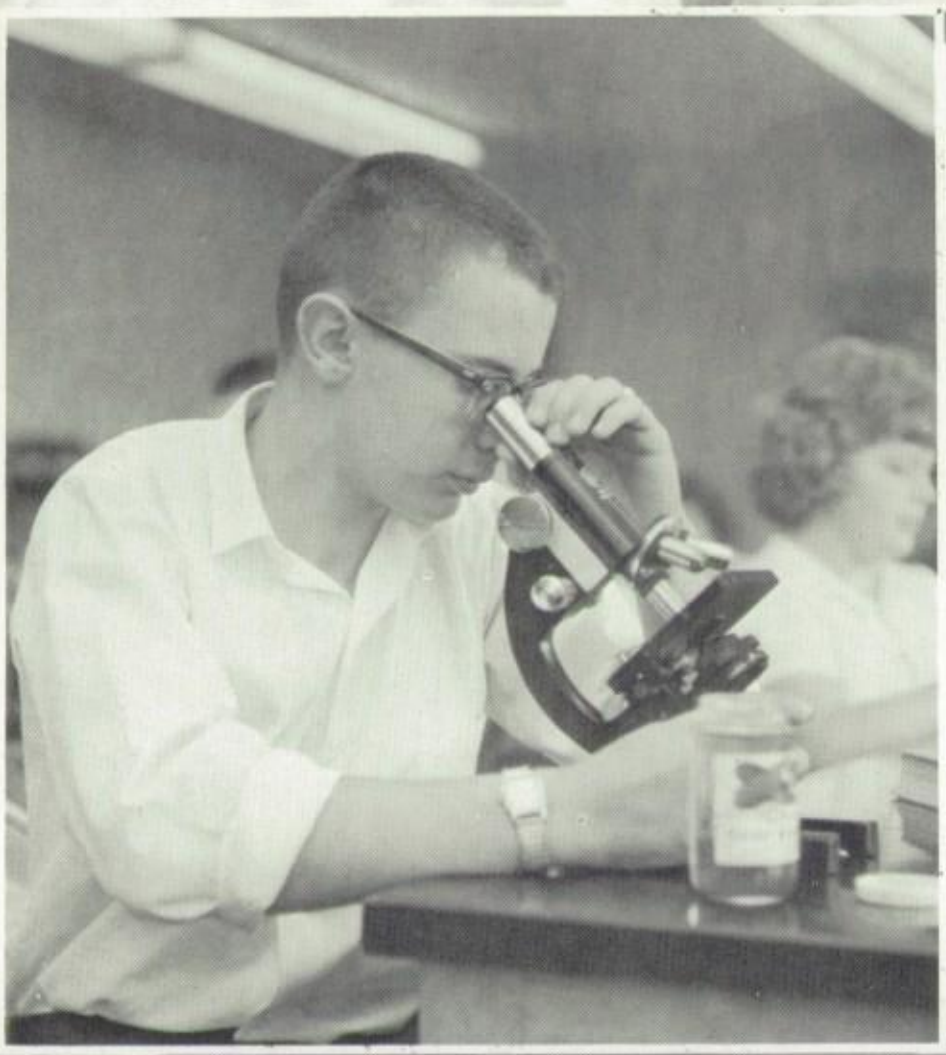
By taking typewriting, the student may learn the mastery of the keyboard and basic typing skills. Advanced typing involves further development of typing skills that apply to office work.

From beginning shorthand the student obtains the basics of Gregg shorthand in reading, taking dictation, and transcribing notes. Following this course is the advanced shorthand course which emphasizes speed in taking transcription and efficiency in transcribing mailable transcripts.

Upon taking a course in business machines, the pupil finds that he will learn the operation of all types of office machines.

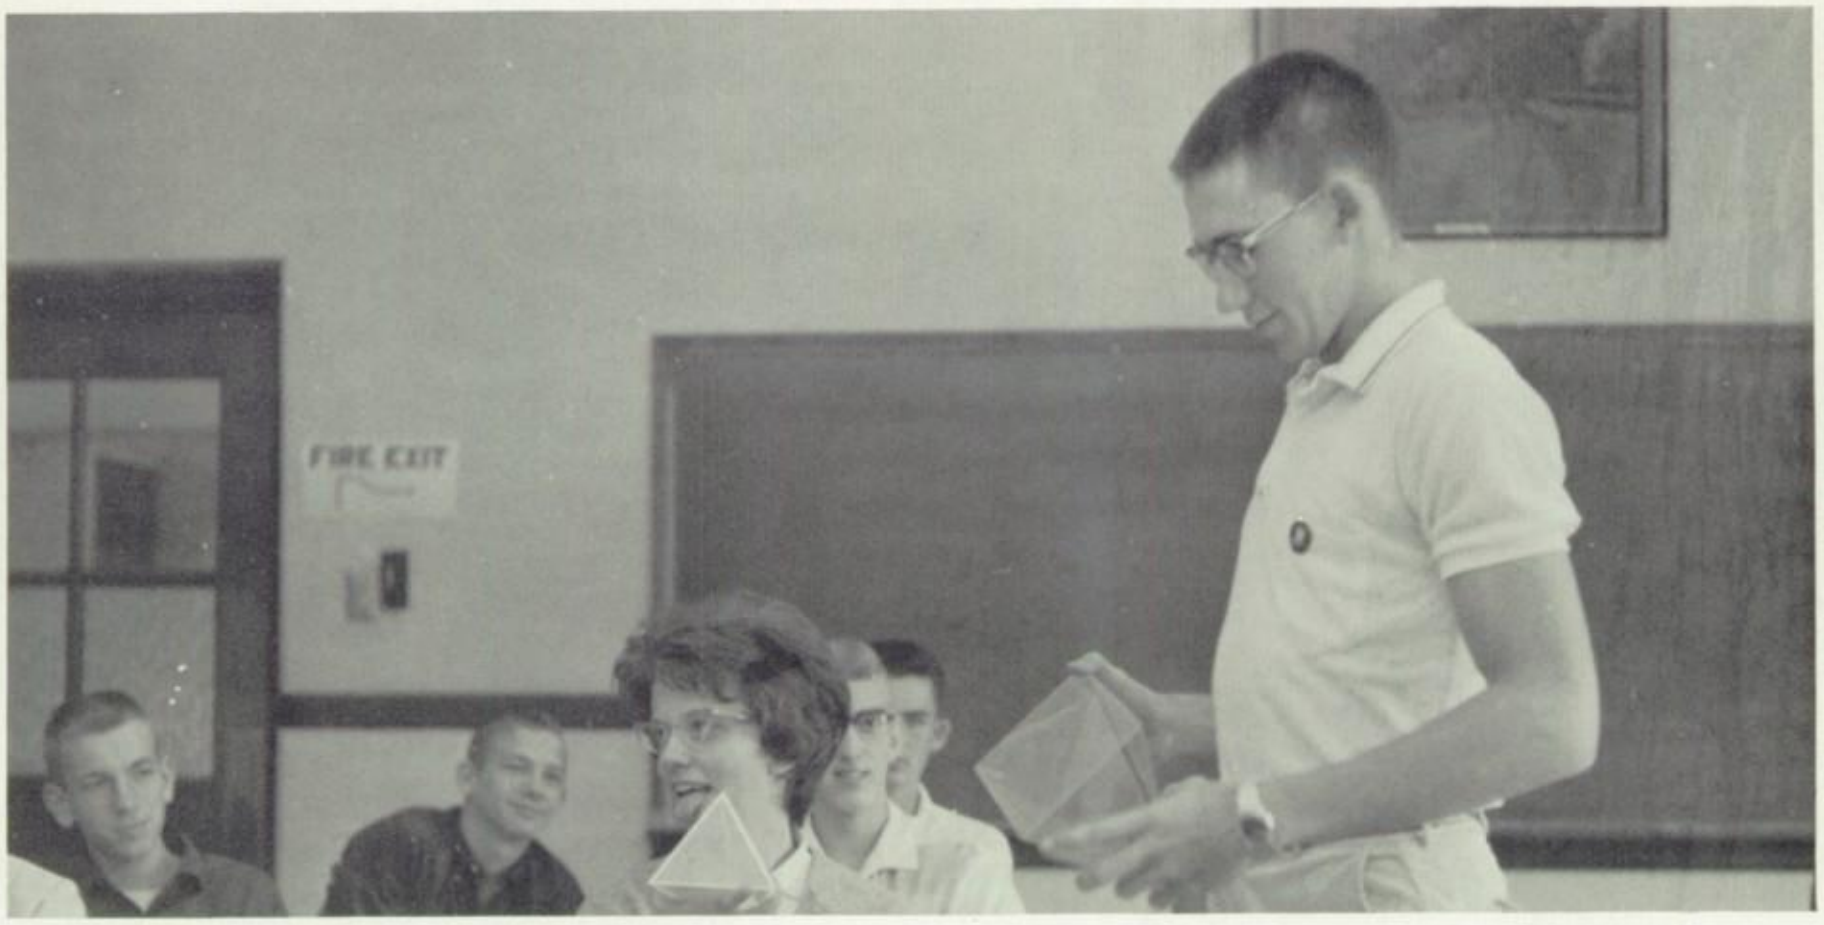
Judy Tucker, checking her time test in advanced typing, finds that accuracy is a problem.

As other students observe, Susan Werner and Patsy Worl begin dissecting their frog in freshman biology.



Mark Mendenhall observes a specimen through the microscope.

Norman Dingle and Vern Vanderbuilt watch intently as Mr. Barnhart prepares Oxygen during chemistry class.



One can tell by the look on the student's faces that senior math is an enjoyable subject, loved by those who have ventured in the study of the abstract. Isn't that right, Susie?!!

Science and Math Range From Dissections to Bisections

In the complex society of today, mathematics continues to be more and more important. Mathematics plays a role in every vocation and is especially important in the physical sciences such as physics, astronomy, and engineering. Mathematics is not only important for its physical applications in life, but it also helps students to develop their powers of the reasoning and organizations.

At Hagerstown, students can become proficient in basic algebraic, geometric, and trigonometric skills.

Suzy Hagen looks on, quite amazed, at what mathematical wonders this instrument can perform.

Golden Tiger Band Adds Color

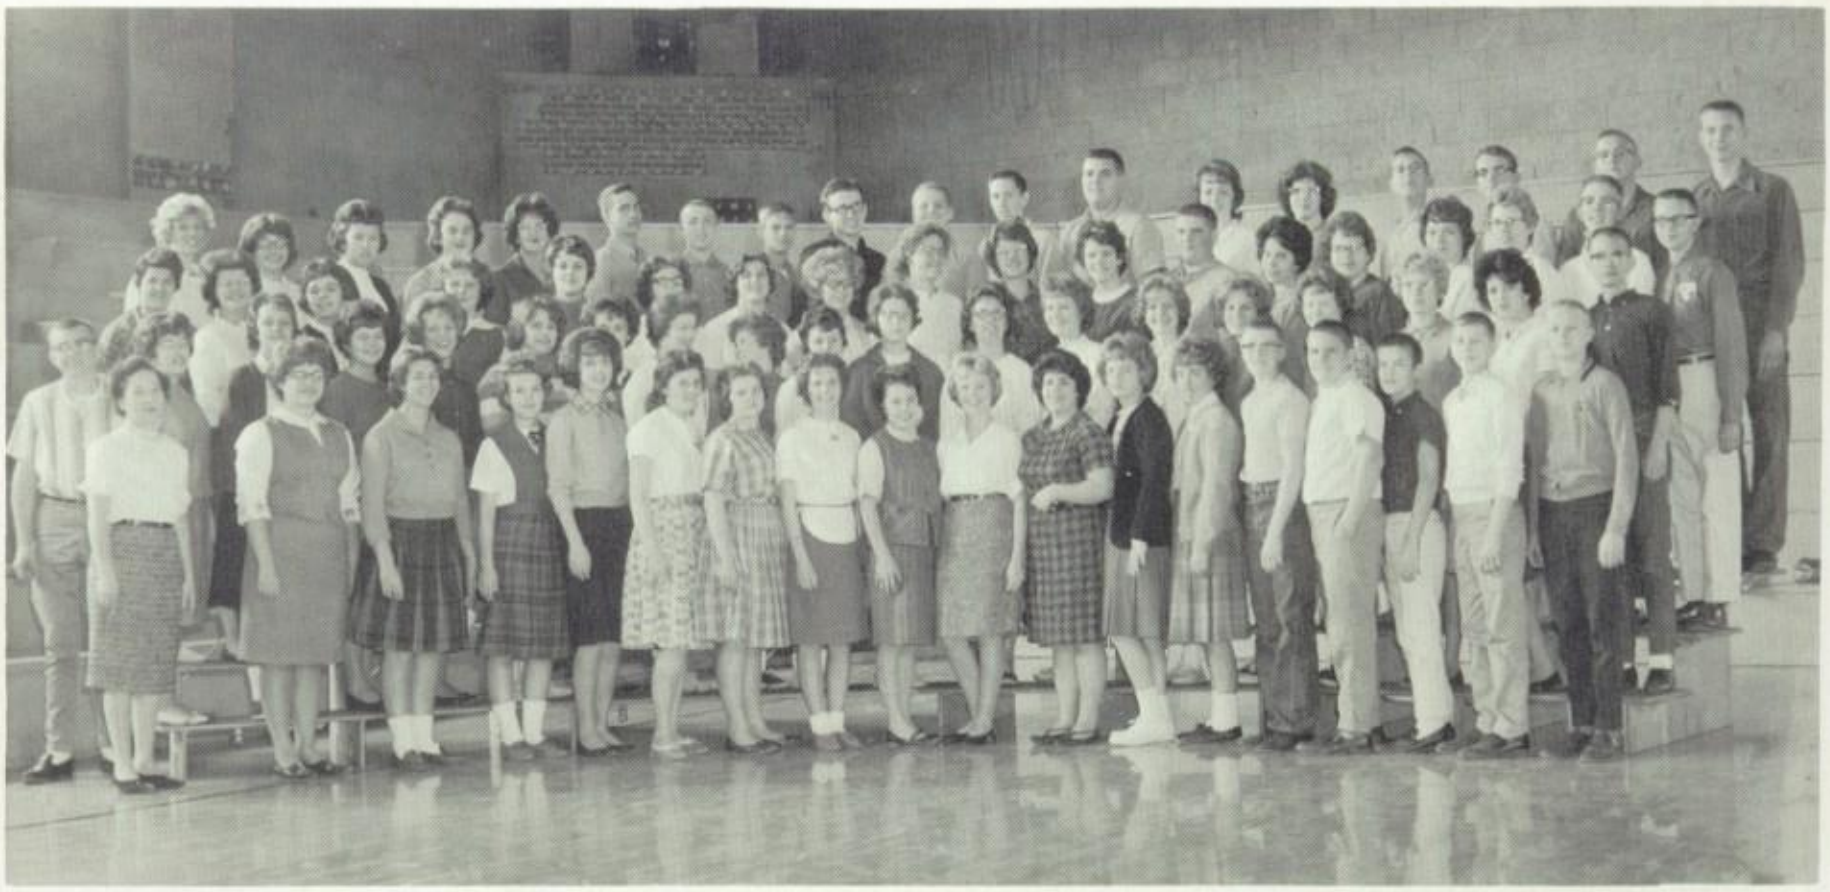
Peggy Pass, Connie Breneman, Cheryl Wilson, Susie Detweiler, Vicki Allen, Linda Davis.

The appreciation and development of musical skills can be developed by enthusiastic students who work hard and participate in instrumental music. Band provides such an opportunity.

It is a very active organization throughout the school year. Students take part in district and state contests as well as the band collectively. There are various band activities including Pep Band and Marching Twelve, organized to play at pep sessions and at basketball games, civic functions, concerts, and graduation. Music of a popular theme is offered to students joining the Dance Band. The colorful shows on the football field cannot be overlooked. Hard work and determination go into such preparations and are appreciated by all as an asset to our school.

and Sparkle to School Activities

Band students work at keeping their instruments in good working condition. Good tone quality and clean instruments go hand-in-hand.



The choral group of H.H.S. seem happy and ready to demonstrate their vocal skills. It is composed of a large group of vocal talent.

Lively Voices Bring Enjoyment to All

Music is a very important contribution to all persons. Choir is only one phase in the development of musical ability and a chance for listeners and those participating to acquire a taste and appreciation for a fine art. It also provides an opportunity for those outstanding students who wish to develop their vocal ability and for those who are willing to work with what ability they have for their own enjoyable and betterment of a school activity.

The choir performs at concerts, convocations, and other community affairs. Ensemble and solo groups participate in district and state contests. The main event of the year's activity is singing in the District Choral Festival.

Creative Students Excel In Artistic Ability

As she places glue on the back of her design, Louella Gray is preparing her project for art class. She finds that these projects are a means by which she can express herself artistically.

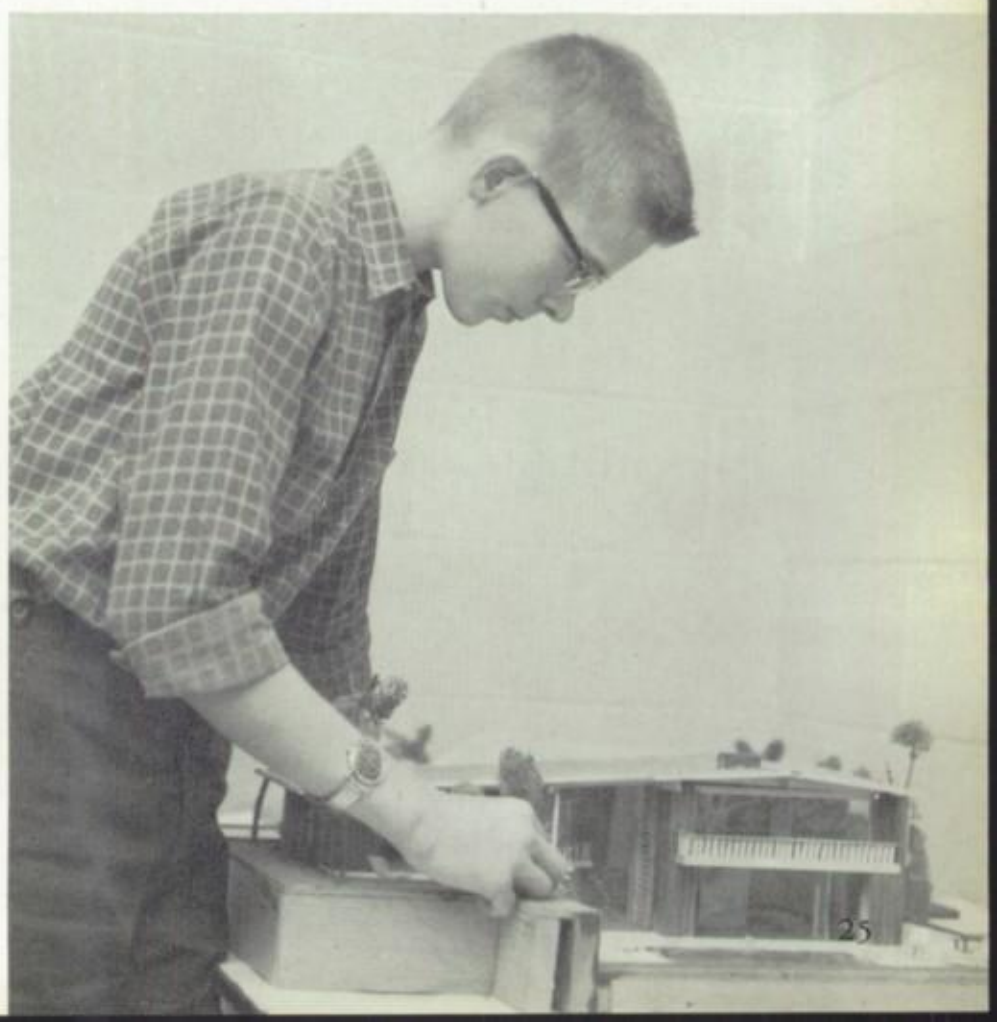
Two art courses are offered for high school students here at H.H.S. Art I gives a basic knowledge of drawing perspective, sculpturing, crafts, and modeling to those who are interested in the fine arts.

In Art II work is geared on a higher level for students who wish to continue their education in art as a profession. More individual direction is given to each pupil to bring out special talents and abilities.

The study of art in school includes not only drawing, but art appreciation as well. Its purpose is not to make artists of all students nor to develop high artistic skill. But it aids the powers of observation, and puts forth drawing as the language of the expression of ideas.

These courses in art develop standards of taste and judgment which make students more able to enjoy the beautiful in nature and in art.

Ted Montgomery puts the finishing touches on a model home that he has built for art class.



Mr. Suminski seems to have trouble with that old skeleton during a demonstration in health class.

In Driver's Education, Mr. Showalter shows how to change a tire to his attentive class.

Students Complete Programs With a Variety of Subjects

Co-ed physical education is a new innovation designed to accelerate the physical education program in the Junior High School.

Who says you can't have a good time while working? Melanie Snyder does, while stitching busily.

Susan Werner is practicing so that she may fill the role of a better homemaker in the future.

Labs Give Basis For Future Homemakers

Donna Shook agrees that cooking can be quite rewarding, but oh those dishes!!

Our Homemaking Department strives for the ideal homemaker of tomorrow. Emphasis is placed upon home economics as a professional field which includes a number of specialized occupations concerned with improving individual and family welfare. Courses in home economics gives knowledge and applies it in foods, clothing, housing, household equipment, child development, family relationships, family economics, home management, house furnishings, and other important aspects of living. The learn-by-doing method is essential in all years of the study. Important class discussions in the various years of this study serves as a means of stimulation for the subject.

Vocational Students Prepare For

Ronnie Madison is shown here developing his skills with a wood plane.

Today one of the important elements of our economy is skilled labor. Every year there is an increasing demand for men who are trained in the operation of industrial machines. Students who wish to pursue a vocation in this field will find a well-rounded program at Hagerstown. Under this program boys can learn to execute skill and accuracy in carpentry and machine skills. They learn to use such manual and machining tools as lathes, grinders, saws, and planes.

Their Future Roles In Life

Agriculture has been completely revolutionized by technological advances and the introduction of specialized farming. Farming is no longer a vocation which is passed from father to son. Today, to be a successful farmer, outside training in science and new agricultural methods is a prerequisite. Boys interested in agriculture can find detailed instructions in the raising of livestock and crops, in the Hagerstown curricula.

Agricultural courses of the Hagerstown Department form an excellent basis for students who plan to continue their education in farm operation and management.

One of the numerous projects engaged in by the Agricultural Department is preparing pig troughs.

Jim Retherford performs an experiment with grass in agricultural science. Mr. Hilton supervises.

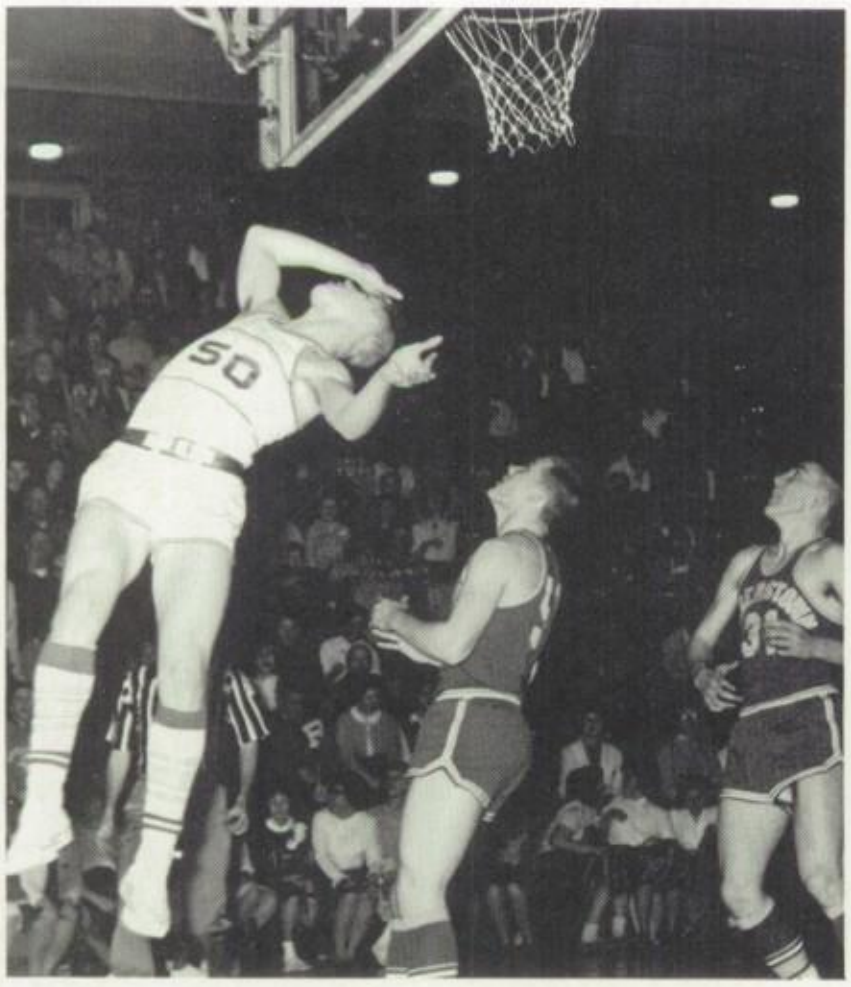
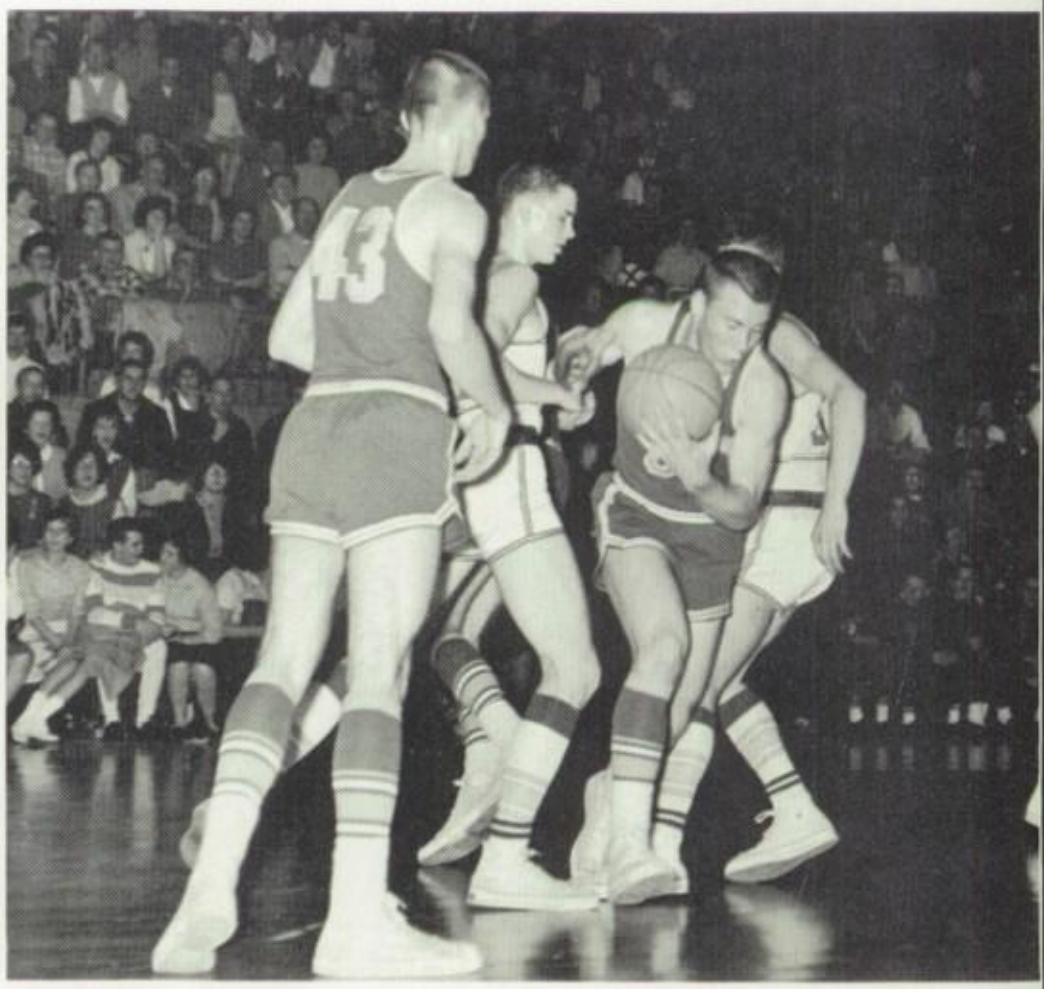
Setting in Motion Capability and Enthusiasm, Tigers Progress

Randy Gwin and Bob Weaver await the rebound after a Boston fast-break has failed.

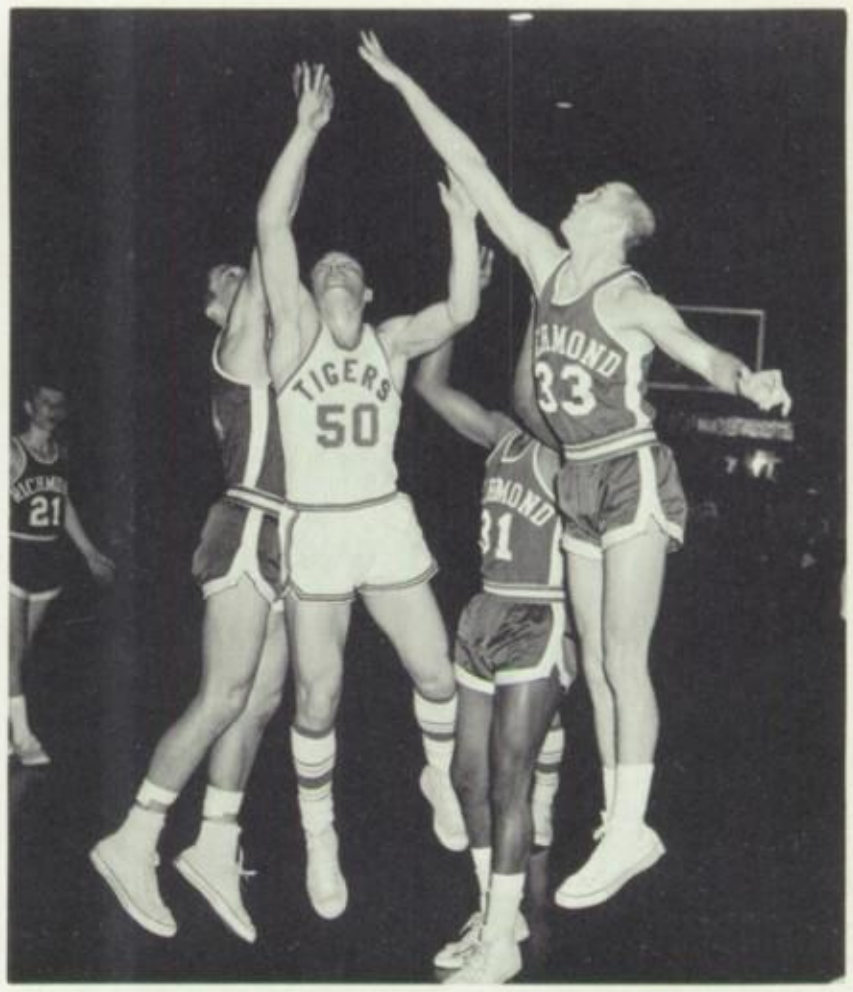


The Tigers regain the ball as Weaver steals it from an unsuspecting player.



The 1963 Sectional was, of course, the high point of the basketball season at Hagerstown High School. Entering the eight-team tourney on Thursday, February 28, the Tiger's first encounter was with Boston. By upending the Boston squad 92-35, the Tigers earned a one-day layover until Saturday afternoon when they met the Centerville Bulldogs first game. The Bulldogs were no match for the Hagerstown squad which defeated them 67-44, thus earning the right to play the determined Red Devil crew in the championship game on Saturday night. With great desire and proficiency, the Tiger quintet fought well, but was overpowered by its formidable opponents, by a score of 86-42.

The varsity squad of 1962-1963 will be remembered by many who recognized its fine players, close teamwork, and sportsmanlike conduct. These boys have made the students and adults of Hagerstown proud and willing to support them any time; anywhere.



Bob Weaver fights for a rebound in the championship game with Richmond.

The track team had one of its most successful seasons in many-a-year in 1962. Several broken records plainly show this fact.

Paul Leeka set a high hurdles record of 16.4 seconds.

Rich Powell broke his own 440 time and set the new mark at 54.3 seconds.

The half-mile was run in 2:03 by Jim Miller.

The low sticks met their master in the form of Gale Stohler. He set the time for that event at 21.2 seconds.

Charles Cole heaved the put 51.2" for the schools best effort.

The pole vault record was hiked to 11'3¼" by Bob Weaver.

The combination of T. Crome, P. Leeka, J. Miller, and R. Powell, set the mile relay record at 3:42.0 minutes.

of the Students, by the Students, for the Students

The Student Council was established to promote better understanding between the faculty and the student body. Through council members, students may introduce problems that arise during the school year. Council members meet to discuss these problems and to promote worthwhile school activities.

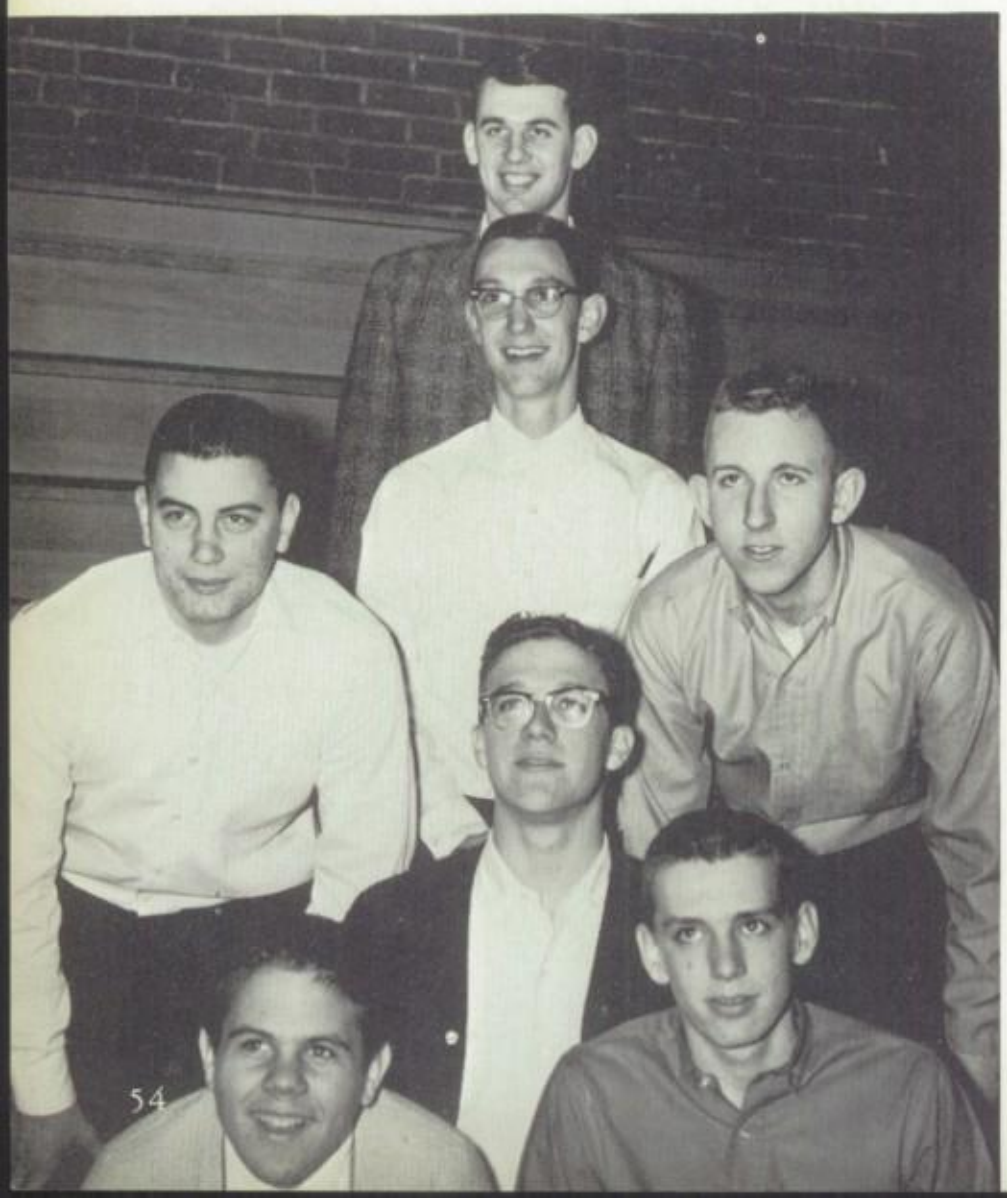
Superior Grades and Talents Shown by Honor Students

At an impressive candlelight ceremony each spring, new members from the junior and senior classes are inducted into the National Honor Society. Chosen on the basis of the four criteria, scholarship, leadership, character, and service, the new members receive pins and membership cards. To support their activities, the members this year sold donuts in the community. The sponsors of National Honor Society, pictured at the right, with the aid of two student representatives, select the new members.

Look to Hi-Y for Leadership



A devotional inspiration is given to the student body each Monday morning over the public address system by Steve Stone, Chaplain of Hi-Y. Clean sports, clean speech, clean scholarship, and clean living are the criteria for the Hi-Y Club, a branch of the Y.M.C.A. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Leimer, the boys concentrate their efforts on world service.

A Wise Teen Is a Y-Teen

The Y-Teen organization, one of the most active groups in school, is affiliated with the Richmond Y.W.C.A. Sponsor, Mrs. Helm and the girls give the annual Thanksgiving convocation at school and decorate the halls with greenery and Christmas ornaments for the yuletide season. For social activity, the girls have a Deserts for Dad and a Mother and Daughter Banquet. The cabinet, shown at the right, performs the governing duties for the club.

Staff members design layout mats and compose copy for the yearbook.

The staff of the 1963 Epitome has composed a book telling the story of this school year. Through photographs and copy, we have endeavored to present full coverage of one year in a manner that is appealing now and will serve for future reference and enjoyment.

The F.F.A. Chapter of Hagerstown High School is well known in the community as well as in the school. The National Gold Emblem Award, won by the chapter for the first time at Hagerstown High School, was awarded on the basis of all the activities of the club throughout the year. Among their activities are the Polio Corn Drive and the Christian Rural Overseas Program. For lighter activities, the boys participated in the F.F.A. Four-Way Basketball Tourney and brought back the championship.

With the helpful guidance of Mrs. Braun, the girls sponsor a tea each year for the installation of officers. The club performs many services during the year. The girls gave a party for the children at the Wernle Home in Richmond. Members served cookies and punch during the Open House in November and also recognized the teachers, cooks, and janitors during F.H.A. week. As a money-making project, club members held their annual bake sale which was quite successful.

Festivities of Foreign Lands Widen Students' Interests

Members of the Latin Club assemble in the gym for regular meeting.

The local Latin Club is a member of the Junior Classical League. With the aid of advisor Miss Frum, the members sponsor the Roman Banquet which is the highlight of the club's year.

Chul Soo, a ten-year-old Korean youngster, is being supplied with the necessities of life in his native country by our local Junior Red Cross organization. The group raises money through its enrollment drive, Variety Show, and popcorn concession to support all needy children throughout the world.

Students Participate In a Variety of Clubs

The newly formed Boys' Cheerblock adds spirit and lots of noise to the home basketball games. The boys, clad in white shirts, organized their block for the first time this year with the aid of the Hi-Y club. Under the leadership of Randy Rogers and Jim Retherford, they attempt to "out yell" their neighbors, the girls' cheerblock, and are usually successful.

We Boost Our Team With Determination

Fans from other schools continually compliment our Girls' Cheer Block for their outstanding maneuvers. Their specialty of the year is the Christmas program. This, done with red and green flashlights in a darkened gymnasium, always receives a lot of applause from the audience. At regular games the girls spell out words with the use of their purple and gold jerseys. A Cheer Block Board, pictured at the right with director Miss Hamer, performs the business activities of the block.

G. A. A. Promotes Fun and Activity for Girls

The Girls' Athletic Association, under the leadership of Miss Hamer, is a recreational club growing in popularity each year. During their one-hour meeting each week, the girls earn points used in the presentation of awards. Along with having fun, the girls represent Hagerstown Junior-Senior High School in play-days and sport days with other schools.

Seniors Initiate Sample Fair

Old and young alike gather around the booths to choose from varied samples.

As a new experiment, the Seniors sponsored a Sample Fair to raise money for the yearbook. Samples, ranging from ball point pens to medicine for any ailment, were obtained from many companies. These samples were placed in twelve booths managed by Seniors. After picking up their dozen samples, the crowd viewed entertainment provided by members of the Class of 1963. A boys' style show highlighted the successful evening.

Efficient Administration Makes Consolidation a Reality

This year marks the beginning of the Nettle Creek School Corporation. When Perry, Dalton, Harrison, Clay, and Jefferson township's schools united to form this corporation, our administration was faced with new responsibilities. Our School Board is the basis for the many new policies an changes which make our new system as competent as it is. Since the birth of the school system, this ever-working Board has authorized a vocational building, the pavement of the drive, and other improvements to our campus.

As superintendent, Mr. Carlson directs the affairs of the association. Through his leadership in the past few years, Hagerstown schools have progressed greatly through improved curricula and facilities.

His secretary, Miss Smith, and bookkeeper, Mrs. King, aid him in the day-to-day work.

Heading our high school is Mr. Stone. His services and leadership are appreciated and respected by everyone connected with the school.

Mrs. Wichterman, secretary, not only assists Mr. Stone; but adds cheerfulness to school life.

As financial secretary, Mrs. Stewart works diligently handling the finances of the school system and operating the bookstore.
